KATHRIN FRANK (41) born 1981 in Nürnberg, Germany. Graduated from journalism in the university of Sankt Augustin, Germany. Later she worked in Colonia for the television and the national radio as a news author and journalist. 2007 she directed and produced her first documentary called “Ausgegrenzt” Zigeunerleben in Deutschland”, a short documentary about the stigmatization of Roma and Sinti in Germany. This film she distributed to the national TV channel ZDF. It had reruns for over 3 years.

Also in 2007 she attended an international four-month seminar dedicated to documentary filmmaking in TALLER IMAGEN Buenos Aires. In 2008 she worked as author, journalist and casting director for the production company First Entertainment dedicated to television shows. During that period of time she directed and produced her second short documentary about immigration and adolescent integration through the plastic arts. This project was financed by the Museumsdienst Köln foundation, from the museum Ludwig in Cologne, Germany and was broadcasted in the museum but also in various cultural events, and festivals.

In the end of 2009 she returned to Argentina and enrolled in Universidad del Cine (FUC) in a film directing career which she finished in December 2013. Kathrin Frank participated in multiple short films. She was twice selected for the university curricular short films. Her short film called “Aurelia y un sueño” was in the official selection in various festivals, like the Lakino Festival in Berlin, Tisfest Istanbul, ISFF Detmold. Her other Short „Intuición“ was selected for the Alcine Festival and the Cine Global Festival. The last Short „La moza y el cocinero“ was screened at the Cannes Short Film Corner 2016 and the Festival Internacional de Cine de la Mujer en Uruguay.

She has also produced and directed several music videos for Argentinian bands (broadcasted at the television) and some video-art. In 2012 she was working for the production company RIZOMA FILMS as an assistant director and an assistant producer in the documentary “Alfonsina” by Christoph Kühn. She also worked as a freelance copywriter, author and script translator. Her clients are film productions like Gema Films, Sutor Kolonko, German Kral, Mónica Laraina, Ivan Sains Pardo, among others.

Kathrin Frank is also involved in acting. From 2014 to 2020 she studied acting and performance at several renowned drama schools in Argentina. She played a small supporting role in the movie „Neruda“ from Pablo Larraín. 2016 she was assistant director and translator in the documentary theater play “Atlas des Kommunismus” from Lola Arias, premiered at the Gorki Theater in Berlin. In 2019 she launched and produced the Ciclo3a4, a feminist theater cycle made by women and dissidence. She also worked, directed and acted in some theater play and presented a monologue for several month in theaters in Buenos Aires. Kathrin Frank also studied contemporary dance and was the last two years part of an Argentinian Performance Collective, founded by Silvio Lang. They presented their performance play at the Theater Xirgu Untref in Buenos Aires.

She also worked and acted in various theater productions. Currently, she lives in Portugal, where she made a documentary about the slowly disappearing resin production and the resin workes in the portugues woods.
